Today's Invocation: Marty Lovett

Health & Happiness: Charles Refshauge

Today's Program: 2013 SC Elementary School Principal of the Year - Charles Bagwell

Last Week's Program

U.S. Representative James Clyburn was our guest speaker last week, and he told us that he feels the challenge in life is all about balancing liberal and conservative interests in making decisions. Rep. Clyburn was the author of the legislation that established the Gullah-Geechee Cultural Heritage Corridor.

Great Kids Deserve Great Books

The Rotary Club of Spartanburg is once again participating with the Great Kids Deserve Great Books Book Drive organized by Hub City Writers Project. We are supporting the project with a cash gift, but also will provide two collection days when you can bring new or gently used children's books to the Piedmont Club for collection. Last year our club donated more than 1,000 books to this worthy cause! We have many new members in our club this year, so please take some time to check your attic and your bonus room for books that your children or grandchildren may have outgrown. Of course, brand new books are especially welcomed. We will collect books at our meetings on April 22nd and 29th.
